

Move a completed submission between Chambers and Partners and The Legal 500 without retyping it. Everything below takes about five minutes, and nothing you convert ever leaves your computer.

1 Unpack and run — there is nothing to install

Unzip the folder anywhere you like; your Desktop is fine. Then double-click LegalConverter.exe. No installer runs and no administrator rights are needed, so you do not have to involve IT to try it.

NEED THE PROGRAM ITSELF?

legalconverter.com/download

Windows and macOS builds, both current. The evaluation version is free and needs no key.

If Windows shows “Windows protected your PC” — click More info, then Run anyway. That notice appears because the file is newly published, not because anything is wrong with it.

2 There is nothing to activate

The evaluation version needs no licence key, no account and no sign-in. It converts as many documents as you like, for as long as you like. The pill in the top-right corner reads Evaluation.

Every file it produces carries a short notice marking it as evaluation output — at the top of the document, in the page header and in the file’s properties. Evaluation use is for assessing the software; it is not licensed for commercial work, and the output is not meant to be sent to a directory.

Ready to use it for real? Ask us for a licence at contact@legalconverter.com. You will get a small license.key file — save it next to LegalConverter.exe and the notice disappears.

3 Convert your first document

A conversion always takes two files — the one that holds your content, and a blank form of the directory you want to end up in:

SOURCE

Your completed submission

A real Chambers or Legal 500 form you have already filled in.

TARGET

A blank template

The empty form of the directory you are converting to.

Blank forms for both directories are included in the Blank templates folder, so you can start straight away. If your team uses a regional variant, use your own copy instead.

Drop the two files onto the two cards, check the output file name, and click CONVERT. A report then lists what transferred and what still needs a human eye — it is written to be read, not skipped.

Your originals are never modified. The result is always a new document, so there is no way to damage the submission you started from.

— What your evaluation includes

Unlimited	No key needed	Both directions
No document count, no expiry date	Nothing to install, activate or sign in to	Chambers ⇌ Legal 500, current and older forms

A licence removes the evaluation notice and permits commercial use. Everything else — the engine, the accuracy, the offline guarantee — is identical in both.

— Confidentiality — why this matters for submissions

The program runs entirely offline. It has no account, no cloud storage and no telemetry, and it makes no network connections at all. Your submissions — and the client information inside them — never leave the machine they are converted on. Nothing is sent to us, and we have no technical means of seeing what you convert.

- Nothing is uploaded, queued or cached anywhere outside your computer.
- No AI model is involved, so no text is rewritten, summarised or invented.
- You can verify all of this yourself: disconnect the machine from the network — the program works exactly the same.
